

Structural Design & Deck Renovation

Skillman, New Jersey

Project Overview

This exterior deck renovation and reconstruction project included structural analysis and design services to install new stairs and landings as part of a new two-tiered floor plan. A new platform and stair were designed to connect the upper and lower levels of this existing deck which then allowed for enhanced circulation.

The construction included structural framing modifications, new stair and landing construction, exterior renovation of the existing deck, new railings and painting.

Pisano Development Group provided preliminary analysis, design services and construction management services.

Owner Testimonial

"This project took very little of our time and was completed on time and on budget. There were no surprises because PDG managed the process and supervised the work from beginning to end. This creative solution essentially added an extra room to our house and made us feel safer by creating an additional exit."
